GIVE ME A GUN AND I'LL MOVE MOUNTAINS OF CORPSES

* I want to clarify that when referring to the weapon I mean not only weapons as pistols, but also weapons from spears to missiles. *

Since the Stone Age, humans have been creating weapons intended to hunt and protect themselves from wild beasts. But, throughout history, humans have been using that tool to kill themselves, the clearest example being America with its school shootings since in 2019 they had 22 dead and more than 19 wounded and this is not strange as this country is known for its rights to arms.

And it's unbelievable that what separates me from a thief is a question in which he points out that he has no intention of killing.

But of course it's better to blame video games for school shootings than to tell themselves that they have a very fat problem with guns, and don't get me wrong, I don't think we should ban guns much less, I think properly used weapons are very useful, but I think those who should use guns should be people like the police , since it is one thing to be against guns and another is to be stupid, weapons, whether you want it or not, are useful, because I do not expect a policeman to stop an unarmed heist and this is very important to take into account.

We want to ban something without thinking about the consequences of that ban.
